[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Times to-morrow will print the first of a series of articles from Washington concerning the star route contracts. The opening dispatch is in a great measure devoted to a history of various routes and the means used to have pay for transportation of mails over them increased. The beginning of the story is suggestive and as follows: The time will come when the rings which have plundered the treasury of the United States by means of contracts for carrying mails, will take their place in history and estimation of the American people by the side of the most infamous organization of their kind. That time is nearly at hand. The Tweed ring of New York and the canal ring of New York have passed beyond the period of denial, explanation and attempted defense; and their discovery and corruption are facts as firmly established in history as the events of the war of the revolution. The star service rings are still in existence, but their condition resembles that of a snake that has lost its head and is seeking to replace it. The head is gone, but there is tremendous energy and power in the body. Nevertheless, without a head these organizations must die. It is a great struggle in which these rings are engaged. Their influence extends in almost every direction. Their agents are numerous in both the great political parties. Their operations have been interwoven with great political undertakings. Their strength can only be understood by those who have sought for evidence of their corruption and seen the efforts which they have put forth in their own defense. There are intelligent persons who predict that they will win this, their greatest battle, as they have won battles before. The people will make fulfillment of this prediction impossible as soon as they plainly understand the manner in which they have been robbed. To the people facts must be shown, for with them lies the enduring remedy through their representatives in congress. In the past, the people and their representatives have innocently been a bulwark for protection of these rings. Any attempt to lay bare accumulations of wickedness has been denounced as an attack upon the energetic pioneers of our growing west and southwest and the honest influence of these people has been sufficient to bring the scale in favor of persons who were robbing them under the pretense of a brand new policy for thorough dissemination of intelligence. In the last annual report of the postmaster general, Mr. Maynard then holding that office, there was the following assertion: "The general public cares only to know that its correspondence is conveyed to its destination with certainty, celerity and security, and pays little attention to the methods by which these ends are attained." This is true, and in this truth may be seen the safety of the rings. When the people determine to pay some attention to these methods, then rings will be at an end. The Times' article goes on to say that evidence which has rapidly accumulated since Mr. James and Mr. MacVeagh joined hands for prosecution and punishment of the guilty persons will be the basis, it is expected, for a larger number of important suits. These suits will be carried on by the government's prosecuting officers in many states and territories. The authorities who have now the evidence cannot, of course, give it to the public or the inside history of the fancy routes. Much of it is, however, notorious, and reference will be made to it in connection with some of the routes which will be described. The main purpose of these histories, however, is to set before the people the methods by which so much money has been given away and thrown away, as shown by official records themselves.

Washington was the place where official work was done, but inside plans were laid in New York, where a house was hired and set apart for consultation.

Railroad Dicker.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Missouri Pacific Railroad Company began yesterday an exchange of stock under a recent agreement for purchase of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad. The agreement, which has received the approval of a majority of stockholders of both companies, provides that three shares of the Missouri Pacific stock should be given for four shares of the Iron Mountain stock. The exchange was begun yesterday, and a considerable amount of stock was exchanged before the close of business. The exact amount could not be ascertained, but no doubt of success of the scheme was expressed by officers of either company.

A Rumor.

It was rumored on exchange to-day that a leading banker who was largely instrumental in placing the last great loan of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co. in this market, has been called suddenly home from the east by return upon his house of nearly £2,000,000 of that loan within the past fortnight.

Mary Anderson and her Papa.

NEW YORK, May 7.—A statement widely published that Dr. Griffin, Mary Anderson's business manager, had misappropriated funds intrusted to his care by Miss Anderson, has called forth the following statement: "Articles published in various papers throughout the country to the effect that I had charged my step-father and manager, Hamilton Griffin, with misappropriating my funds and property, are absolutely false. No such words were ever uttered by me. My personal and business relations with him have been during my entire career, of the most amicable nature in every respect, and so long as I remain upon the stage he will be my manager, and so long as we both live he will be my father.

"MARY ANDERSON."

Funeral of a Christian Chinaman at New York.

There was a remarkable scene yesterday at the funeral of Ley Teep, a Chinaman, who died at the hospital Wednesday from a stab inflicted by an unknown rowdy. The Reformed Presbyterian church, 23d street, was filled with American sympathizers and thirty Chinamen, the deceased being claimed as a Christian convert. In the pulpit sat Rev. David Gregg, pastor of the church, Dr. John Hall and Dr. Howard Crosby, eminent divines of the city. Rev. Mr. Thompson, who is preparing to go as a missionary to China, opened the services. Rev. Gregg stated that Ley Teep came here eleven months ago and connected himself with his church. Dr. Hall made an address in which he said: "I trust that one of the results of this tragedy will be to call the attention of Christian people to the duty that we owe these strangers. It is distressing in the last degree to think that the Chinamen among us should have useless difficulties thrown in their way. I hope our friends will distinctly understand that this is a cause of sorrow and distress to us. Let us try to make it apparent that we as Christians must claim for these people protection of our laws." The interment was in Machpelah cemetery, near Weehawken. The Chinamen burned little strips of red paper around the grave before it was filled. All city papers have lengthy notices of the funeral.

A Skillful Forger.

CHICAGO, May 7.—James B. Doyle, of Bradford, Illinois, who acquired distinction as a forger of government bonds, and whose work was only distinguishable from the genuine by being superior thereto, was brought into Judge Blodgett's court to-day and gave bonds in the sum of $20,000.

Walking Match.

O'Leary's six-day square heel and toe pedestrian tournament opens to-morrow evening at the exposition building. Thirty contestants are on hand. The first prize is $1000; second, $500; third, $300; fourth, $200; fifth, $100. Forty per cent. of any gate money will be divided among the winners. The track is eight laps to the mile.

Bogardus Wins.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—A shooting match for $500 a side, took place here this afternoon, between Capt. Bogardus and W. H. Mitchell of Virginia, 100 birds, three yards rise, English rules, which was won by Bogardus, the score standing 80 to 78. Another match for same amount and same teams, will be shot next week.

Reduction in Freight Rates.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Commissioner Fink to-day notified railroad agents here that rates on live stock will be reduced, beginning Monday, on a basis of 35 cents per 100 pounds gross and 25 cents net to New York.

Union Telegraph Stock.

Mr. New telegraphs that the entire amount of stock of the Mutual Union Telegraph Company has been subscribed, and that New York, to which two and one-half millions was allotted, is clamorous for a larger amount.

The Flood at Hannibal.

HANNIBAL, Mo., May 7.—The crevasse has been closed. The land is emerging, and crops will be far less damaged than supposed.

Large Area Submerged.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—To-day's break will submerge from 2000 to 10,000 acres of land, and perhaps twice that area. Everybody is sure that there will be a rapid decline.

In Running Order.

ST. JOSEPH, May 8.—Several railroads leading out of this city, have done wonders during the past week in repairing damages incident to the late inundations. The K. C., St. J. & C. B., run trains regularly to Atchison and north to Bigelow. The St. J. & Western are running as usual and the Missouri Pacific announces the opening of its entire line. Business has suffered greatly, but activity will follow now. Trackmen, 180 in number, at the A. & St. J. depot, in this city, struck to-day for advance in wages, from $1 25 to $1 50 per day. The river at this point marks 9 feet 10½ inches above low water at 6 P. M., and still falling slowly.

Children Killed by Lightning.

WINONA, Miss., May 7.—Yesterday P. M. while some school children were playing under a small tree in the yard of W. F. Horner, eight miles east of Winona, lightning struck the tree and immediately killed Nannie and Willie Horner, aged nine and seven years, and Mary Hightower, aged six.

A Narrow Gauge Road.

DEADWOOD, D. T., May 8.—Chief stockholders in the Homestake mine, have sent to Yankton for articles of incorporation for a 30-mile narrow gauge road to connect the chief cities of the hills with the coal fields. Material for the road is on the way from Danville, Pa.

A Horrible Murder.

COOPERS BEND, ARK., May 7.—Isaac Green, a colored desperado, being knocked down in a fight with Jack Richards, a white man, seized a heavy maul and plied it on Richards' head till he knocked it into a mass of jelly.

Deserves the Rope.

LITTLE ROCK, May 8.—A Gazette special from Conway, Ark., says: A young lawyer by the name of D. M. Smith living in this town on last night took advantage of the absence of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Martin, who had gone on an excursion to New Orleans, to inveigle their little daughter Jessie, aged 12 years, a cousin to the young man, to his room and there ravished her. Mayor Bolton, wishing to use the room for some purpose went to the door and tried to enter and failing suspicions were aroused and he watched the room and saw the young man and the girl come out. To-day he told of it. Lincoln, the girl's uncle, and upon an investigation the girl confessed everything and stated that Smith had threatened to murder her if she told. Smith, finding that he was suspected, fled to the woods where he was found and captured by the indignant citizens. He is under a strong guard but it is feared he will be lynched before morning. The parties are of the best people in the community.

Temperate Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, May 7.—Mayor Means has issued an order for enforcement to-morrow of the Sunday law closing saloons.

New Hotel at Omaha.

OMAHA, May 7.—Contracts were signed to-day for the site of a large first-class hotel to be built by a joint stock company, and finished next spring, and probably named "The Millard." This is the second large hotel to be begun in Omaha this season.

Mine Disaster in Kansas.

CARBONDALE, May 7.—One of Osage's coal shafts was ignited this afternoon, consuming all timbering at the foot of the shaft. Twenty miners were at work, and none could escape until the fire was brought under control. Men were lowered and the miners taken out, fourteen alive and three dead. Three are still missing and must be dead. The names of the dead and missing are Hampton, Jake McDonald, Andrew Warner, Chas. Jones, Michael Murphy and Pat Murphy, a boy. All those brought up alive are recovering slowly.

Trouble with the Cherokees.

PARSONS, KS., May 7.—Word has reached here that surveyors on the Muskogee and Fort Smith branches of the Missouri Pacific, have been driven off by Cherokees. Ass't Attorney Kelso of this city, upon the order of General Manager Talmage, left last night for the scene of difficulty. The Indians are reported determined, but it is not doubted that the Missouri Pacific folks will assert their right to build the road.

Crops in Kansas.

Late rains have greatly benefited crops which never were better in this section. Wheat is immense.

Absconded.

WEATHERFORD, TEX., May 7.—G. Frost, president of the Franco-Texan Land Company, has absconded, leaving heavy debts behind him. He appropriated $20,000 of the company's money and owes $45,000 to different parties all along the railroad. He left riding one horse and leading another, and was armed with a couple of rifles. It is believed that he has gone to Arizona or New Mexico. It is also stated that he obtained $4500 which the county subscribed towards building a courthouse at Sweetwater, Nolan county, and put it in his own pocket. The Franco-Texan Land Company have some of the most prominent men in the state connected with it.

Catholic Convention at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 8.—A convention of the Young Men's National Catholic Union will be held in this city on the 11th and 12th inst. Delegates from all parts of the country are expected, and while here will be guests of the Union Catholic Library Association.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Quarantined Chinamen Released.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The board of health has decided to allow Chinese immigrants quarantined on the steamer Alaska to land at once. They have now been in quarantine twenty-one days. The Alaska is likely to be wanted for a new batch, as the City of Tokio is now due with 200 Chinamen on board.

Eviction in California.

HANFORD, May 7.—I have just returned from the scene of eviction of Major T. J. McQuiddy and family from their pleasant home, improved by eight years of toil and hardship. A marshal's party arrived at his house soon after 11 o'clock this morning. None of the family were at home, the doors were locked and the windows fastened. About this time several settlers, friends of Major McQuiddy's, arrived on horseback. At the request of Mr. C. H. Robinson, the marshal promised to have personal property carefully removed. After trying all doors, entrance was made through a window, and the doors soon opened. Everything was left as if the family had merely gone visiting. The work of removing everything from the house was then begun, and the property placed in the road. The whole afternoon was occupied by this work, so that no other evictions will occur till Monday. C. D. Jackson, of Sacramento, was placed in formal possession by the marshal, as the representative of the railroad company, but he did not remain on the premises, returning to Hanford with the marshal. Jackson has served on the Sacramento police and in the sheriff's office for 12 years until April 1st, when he lost his position, and being out of work accepted this job from the railroad company, not knowing its exact nature, so he says. A. Freeman, an Irishman who was recently being evicted in Ireland, drove the marshal's wagon, though he declares he did not know the kind of a job he was to do when he agreed to come. Marshal Poole, with Deputies Dunlap and E. Davitt, from San Francisco, superintended the ejection. On the front gate was found a copy of the state engineer's last report on irrigation, a cause for which Major McQuiddy and his many friends have done much here. On its back was written a sentence in pencil. We must explain that some of the party here are said to be former convicts of the state prison, and of desperate character. This was the sentence: "When courts become so corrupt that I have to surrender my home to ex-convicts to satisfy the greed of a thieving corporation, then I bid adieu to this government and take my chances with those who know nothing of civilization." There is a deep feeling here over the major's homeless condition.

The Tehuantepec Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—A Call reporter to-day interviewed Lieut. Leitze, of the United States navy, and chief engineer of the Pacific division of the Tehuantepec railroad, who is now in the city purchasing supplies for carrying on the construction. It was originally intended that the road should run from Coatzacoalcos, on the Atlantic side, to Salina Cruz, the port of Tehuantepec. It was found, however, that no suitable harbor could be provided at that point, and a line has been laid out to Chepegua, fifteen miles north, where a harbor will be constructed by means of two breakwaters of one mile and three quarter and three quarters of a mile respectively. Between Salina Cruz and Chepegua two tunnels are necessary, aggregating three thousand feet, at a cost of $3,000,000. The highest grade between the termini is 700 feet, but the precise route has not yet been determined. With that exception all the preliminaries are complete. Twenty miles of road are now in operation on the Atlantic side. The company was incorporated in Massachusetts, and the stock is held in New York.

The road is under Mexican protection. The Mexican government grants the right of way and a subsidy of $1250 per mile, and admits supplies, rolling stock, etc., free of duty.

About three weeks ago 650 Indians were engaged to work on the road at 50c per day, they to board themselves. Indian labor is plenty and will be used exclusively, except for foremen, mechanics, etc. The country through which the line runs produces coffee, cotton, cocoa, dye woods, etc., but the main reliance of the company for support is on transcontinental traffic, the route shortening the distance from European or American Atlantic ports to San Francisco about 1500 miles as compared with the Panama route.

Lieut. Leitze returns in a few days to begin work on the breakwaters.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

A Shocking Story of Cruelty and Distress.

PORT TOWNSEND, May 7.—A most unparalleled instance of inhuman cruelty on the high seas has recently been brought to light here, the victim being a seaman who was sent here from Victoria, B. C., for treatment in the marine hospital. The man shipped on the American ship Detroit, now in Victoria, B. C., as an able bodied seaman, but for lack of proper food he was literally eaten up by the scurvy, and yet two days before he came to the hospital the captain had him whipped with a rope's end for not being able to perform his duty. The man's limbs have turned completely black from the thighs down. His teeth are all ready to drop out, and altogether he is the worst sight that has been seen in the hospital here for some time, and if he recovers it will be a miracle. The seaman reports that a few days before reaching Victoria the captain assaulted one of the seamen, knocking him down and kicking him so that he died from the effects of his injuries, and his body was thrown overboard. If this man's story be true, and his deplorable appearance certainly confirms it, the captain of the Detroit merits the severest punishment.

FROM VICTORIA.

Smallpox on an American Vessel at Victoria, etc., etc.

VICTORIA, May 7.—Three fresh cases of smallpox have developed on the bark Henry Buck. Captain Davis' wife was confined two days ago and is now down with the smallpox with little or no hope of recovery. There are no quarantine accommodations and more than three hundred persons remain cooped up on board the vessel. The press pronounce the proceeding as barbarous in the extreme, and popular indignation against the dominion government for indifference runs high. The Chinese passengers are said to be panicky and mutinous. The first and second mates are at the pest house. Captain Davis remains alone to wait on his sick wife. This morning the U. S. authorities at Port Townsend telegraphed the U. S. consul here offering to receive and quarantine the ship's company there, and it is thought that the vessel will cross over to-night.

Rev. T. H. Gilbert, Methodist minister, has seceded from that communion and joined the high church ritualists on the mainland.

The steamship Victoria sailed for San Francisco this morning with coal.

Allen Ramsey, a foreman on the Yale-Savona railway, was killed yesterday by the premature explosion of a blast.

CANADA.

Challenge Forthcoming.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 7.—The Bay of Quinte Yacht Club has decided on behalf of Capt. Cuthbert, of Cobourg, to challenge the New York Yacht Club, present holders of the America cup, to compete there in September next.

NOVA SCOTIA.

A Mad Dog.

HALIFAX, May 7.—A mad dog, running in the streets of Springhill, bit seven children, three men and one woman before being shot. It is feared that most of the victims will die.

MEXICO.

Eads' Plan Approved in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 7.—Eads' ship railway has been unanimously approved by the chamber of deputies.

A quartz nugget, bearing gold to the value of $1,750, was found a few days since in Sierra county, Cal.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

THE LAND BILL DRAGGING IN THE COMMONS.

More Talk about the Tory Leadership—The Claims and the Chances of Half a Dozen Men—The Bradlaugh Business Again—Proceedings of the Monetary Conference—Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—A Tribune's London special says: By far the most important event in British politics is the leadership of the tory party, and the perplexities of the situation in connection with the land and other bills compels the settlement of that question. The chances of Lord Cairns have receded because of his low church views and circumstance of his being only a lawyer. Under him, unpopular with an influential section of the party, and the more confirmed tories fear his spirit of compromise. The Duke of Richmond has also lost ground in the race of the party. He was well fitted for temporary leadership when Disraeli was at hand to give advice. But though possessed of good common sense he is no statesman and is therefore not considered equal to the chief position in the party. The issue is consequently reduced to Sir Stafford Northcote or Lord Salisbury. Northcote is accepted loyally as spokesman of the conservatives in the house of commons but the entire party would not only have a parliamentary chief but a [illegible]. Salisbury on the other hand has laid higher stakes and has been more persistent in enforcing his claims. The party will hold a meeting to consider the subject on Monday. I learn already that Salisbury is to be chosen and the probable effect of this step may be of great importance on the future of the liberal as well as that of the conservative party. Salisbury, with his lack of tact, narrow views, obstinacy, rashness and lack of candor, will never win repute or confidence. The conservative party may look for no access of electoral successes but will rather shrink into an uncompromising and irreconcilable section. In many party considerations the liberals are glad of the choice.

The Land Bills.

The Irish land bills drag heavily. The vote on the second reading is not expected till the 16th. The best speech so far has been Mr. Shaw Lefevre. The more the debate is prolonged the greater are the dissensions which arise in the Irish camp. O'Connor Power has declared in an excellent speech that he will vote for the second reading. A. M. Sullivan has seceded from the support of Parnell, because the latter advised the Irish members to abstain from voting. Parnell was impelled to this step by the arrest of Dillon which worked the Parnellites into a condition of great anger. The proclamation of the city of Dublin arose from the discovery of a supposed Fenian conspiracy in the city, followed by an outrage, and Dillon was arrested for his furious, violent speech. Parnell's followers expressed extreme irritation at this act, and so by the vote of 17 to 12 they decided not to vote for the second reading of the land bill in order to weaken the government majority. No deep regret is expressed among Irish members for Dillon's arrest. His conduct has been inconvenient to his party for some time. Parnell's action is condemned by the Freeman's Journal. The minority in the Irish party decline to be bound by any decision of the caucus. It is remarkable that of 60 home rulers who followed the leadership of Butt, only 17 are faithful to Parnell. Many protests have come from Ireland against Parnell's proposal, and I expect to see a change of front. The whigs will not oppose the second reading of the land bill, but will join the conservatives in obtaining modifications.

Becoming Complicated.

The Bradlaugh business is becoming complicated. The tories are offering unscrupulous resistance to the affirmation bill in defiance of Northcote's promise. The house sat till past 3 o'clock this morning, owing to tory obstruction to the government's proposal for a special sitting to pass the bill. The government has abandoned its demand for special facilities, there being little prospect of the bill's passing. Bradlaugh will possibly come forward next week to demand that he be sworn in if the tories will move his arrest. George J. Holyoake and others of the better class of free thinkers condemn Bradlaugh for offering to take the oath. The government has another difficulty to deal with in the Beaconsfield memorial, which the radicals are determined to oppose. Sixty members will vote against it, and twenty will abstain from voting. The tories are preparing to establish a memorial of some utility, probably a college, in addition to the proposed stained glass windows in Hughenden church.

Irish Dwellings.

LONDON, May 7.—In the commons last night a motion was agreed to that the house thinks that something should be done to improve the dwellings of laborers in Ireland.

Irish Affairs.

DUBLIN, May 7.—An Englishman in a letter published yesterday, says: "Let the land bill have its second reading. If it cannot in committee be brought into such shape as will commend it to the good sense of the country or into harmony with the views of the leaders of sound public opinion, lay and, both lay and ecclesiastical, let it be rejected as inadequate to do what it pretends, and therefore unworthy of our approval and support. Certainly cannot approve the action which the Irish party are said to contemplate to exhibit their sense of loyalty to Dillon and reprobation for his arrest." An overwhelming majority of the Irish people are in favor of giving the government a fair chance of passing the land bill.

A man, supposed to be a relative of O'Donovan, who was arrested here yesterday, is named John Leerey, not Levy. He is a nationalist and an opponent of the land league. It is said that several other persons will be arrested Monday. Among them are prominent members of the land league.

Bright Attacks the Irish.

John Bright, who has lately been showing some ill feeling against Ireland, launched out into an attack last night on the Irish for neglecting to develop their manufactures and utilize water power and other natural advantages of the country. He condemned strongly the giving of small patches of ground for laborers to starve on. An allusion to manufactures losing $25,000 a year through workmen observing Saints' days brought down on him tremendous accusations from the Irish members of sectarian bigotry and led to a prolonged wrangle.

Power of Colonial Governors.

The Manchester school of liberals achieved a comparative success in the debate on Richards' proposal for limiting the power of colonial governors in contracting engagements, declaring war and annexing territory. Gladstone made an important speech on this subject, in which he pointed to the need of holding the central authority rather than of shackling the colonial representative. The Richards resolution was defeated by only eight votes.

Ill in Health and Spirit.

Gladstone is ill in spirit as well as in health. He was absent from several sittings, and to-day goes on a visit to Lord Rosebery's country seat.

A Close Vote.

LONDON, May 6.—Animated debate took place in the house of commons last night on the government's proposal to fix the time for the debate on the oath bill at 2 P. M. Tuesday. The hostile amendment was only defeated by a vote of 128 to 122. The more extreme conservatives resorted to dilatory tactics. Ultimately adjourned until Monday.

The Parliamentary Oath.

Conservatives in the house of commons will resist first reading of the bill for amendment of the parliamentary oath act, and also take division against it on second reading.

Parnell and Sullivan.

LONDON, May 7.—It is denied that Sullivan has written Parnell declining to any longer acknowledge the latter's authority.

The Froude-Carlyle Wrangle.

Froude comes badly out of his correspondence with Mrs. Mary Carlyle. His excuses for publishing the "Reminiscences" against the known wishes of Carlyle are very lame and unsatisfactory. Mrs. Carlyle says if Froude would but surrender the papers not to be examined and decided upon by the friends of Carlyle it would be in accordance with his obvious intention as expressed in his will, and would be joyfully accepted by every member of the Carlyle family. She also calls on him to state his secret reasons for publishing the note book, which Carlyle specially desired to have kept private.

A Windfall.

BOLTON, May 7.—A Lancashire family named Siddon have had a windfall of property valued at £4,000,000 sterling, which had been in chancery since 1857. The property was bequeathed to John Siddon, who died in a workhouse. His heirs inherit this vast fortune.

A Great Performance.

The Irving-Booth performance is the best tragic representation in modern times. Since the visit of the Comedy Français Company no such interest has been created in theatrical circles and no piece has ever been placed on the stage with such magnificent fixing. The two chief actors are splendidly supported by the company.

An Æsthetic Burlesque.

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," a sparkling burlesque on the æsthetic school divides public interest with "Othello." The æsthetic element is an entirely new feature in the drama and takes immensely. The music contains better scores than anything Sullivan has yet written for the stage.

English Foreign Trade.

Value of imports, £5,970,000 less than for April, 1880; exports decrease £1,494,000.

Movements of the Cable Steamer.

LONDON, May 7.—The cable steamship Faraday left the Thames to-day at 1 P. M., having on board of her 1,000 miles of new cable constructed by Siemens Bros. for Jay Gould and the new American cable company. Brittle is in charge of the Faraday which should reach Dover bay on or about the 20th of May.

The Vatican wants Representation at the Court of St. James.

LONDON, May 7.—The Times says: We understand that there is a strong desire at the vatican for some direct authoritative means of communication with England, with a view to gaining more authentic knowledge on social questions, especially those connected with Ireland.

Gladstone's Condition.

Gladstone is improving, but will go to the country for a short rest.

Turkey Still Preparing for War.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—Turkish war preparations still continue. Intelligence has been received here that a party of Circassians attacked Mr. Pears, an American missionary, and maltreated his escort, and Consul-General Heap has complained to the porte.

Outrages in the East.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—Dispatches received here from Damascus state that Pezi Pasha surrounds Druses in the Houran district, and demands from them an indemnity of £40,000 for the pillage of Turkish villages and massacre of inhabitants. The porte fears that they will effect a union with Druses of Lebanon. Some Arab Druses entered and pillaged Meren, which is cut off from postal communication. Caravans of Musselmen, pilgrims from India, were also pillaged.

Royal Guests.

VIENNA, May 7.—The Prince of Wales and Prince and Princess [illegible] have arrived [illegible] to be present at the marriage of the Crown Prince [illegible].

VIENNA, May 7.—[illegible] Austrian and Hungarian [illegible].

An Improved Telephone.

PARIS, May 7.—A recently [illegible] interesting experiments [illegible] have been made at Calais and Dover, between which places a conversation has been kept up [illegible] of a new kind of telephone, which [illegible] patented under the name of telephone. Not only were words, whispered into the [illegible], distinctly heard at Dover, [illegible] the listener at one end was perfectly well able to distinguish, by the tone of voice, the person who was speaking at the other end. It should be observed that while the [illegible] was being transmitted through one of the wires [illegible] employed for the transmission of ordinary telegraphic messages. Moreover, the experiments were conducted between the towns of Dover and Calais in the busiest part of the day [illegible] in succession [illegible] the voice of the speaker was distinctly heard [illegible] without interruption [illegible] competent spectators. Experiments with the same apparatus then continued with the same results and in the midst of conversation produced by simultaneous working of several machines. At London the terminal station, the voice of the speaker was heard as plainly as though he had been in the same room. There can no longer be any doubt that it is perfectly practicable to converse [illegible] by means of a submarine cable. The [illegible] that it is just as easy to talk across the Atlantic as from one room to another.

The Monetary Conference.

PARIS, May 7.—At the monetary conference to-day Cernuschi, French delegate, and Dana Horton, U. S. delegate, proposed that representatives at the conference should furnish statistics of gold and silver coin in their respective countries. The proposal was adopted. Mynheer Pierson, a representative of Holland, made a striking speech in favor of [illegible]. Pirmez, a Belgian delegate, replied, urging maintenance of the status quo. Pirmez having insinuated that the states which had [illegible] currency favored bimetallism, Signor Luzzatti, Italian delegate, replied that Italy [illegible] had made no demand for [illegible] furnishing her quota of expenses toward the settlement of a question which concerned [illegible] present moment only, but the future of [illegible] international currency accepted by all states. The next sitting of the conference will take place Tuesday. Delegates will visit [illegible] and the Bank of France Monday.

Treaties to be Made.

PARIS, May 7.—Mr. Kennedy, who has been here to discuss with the French a new tariff and treaty of commerce, has returned to London after a series of conferences with high officials. Negotiations will be resumed in London after the promulgation of a new tariff on the subject. All treaties of commerce will be announced the same day. The present tariff will not be in force after the 8th of November next. Several governments have given notice of their intention to send delegates to negotiate new commercial treaties.

The Taxes Bill before the Reichstag.

BERLIN, May 7.—On the second reading of the government bill to increase various existing taxes, the reichstag to-day unanimously rejected the first clause, thus throwing out the bill. The bill was very unpopular. The Prussian minister of agriculture, Dr. Lucius, voted against it and Count Von Moltke walked out before a vote was taken.

The Reichstag.

BERLIN, May 7.—The reichstag has adopted the report of a committee that the reichstag meet yearly, and rejected the conservative motion for biennial budgets, but sanctioned quadrennial parliaments.

Russian Affairs.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 7.—A ukase will be published to-day or Sunday lessening the rent to which peasants are liable for lands by 10 to 65 per cent. This will apply to thirteen northern governments. [illegible]

Duke Michael.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 7.—The Golos says that the Grand Duke Michael will go to Tiflis shortly to render up the lieutenancy of the Caucasus. He will return permanently to St. Petersburg. Generals Melikoff and Milutine are spoken of as candidates to succeed him.

From Tunis.

TUNIS, May 7.—The bey has addressed a fresh protest to the powers, imploring them in the name of humanity to stay the horrors of war. A report is confirmed that two powerful native tribes have revolted and refuse to submit either to the bey or the French. The bey is strenuously endeavoring to regain his authority.

Going North.

AMSTERDAM, May 7.—The schooner William Barents sailed to-day on her fourth voyage of Arctic exploration. She is expected to return before winter.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Death of the Empress of the West—Ruling Spirit of the Chinese Court—Etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The City of Tokio brings the following:

HONGKONG, April 17.—The Empress of the West, principal of the two dowagers regent of China, died on about the 11th inst. As mother of the late emperor, Tung Chi, she was the ruling spirit of the court of Pekin. Serious intrigues will doubtless follow her death.

King Kalakaua has visited Tin Tsin and had an interview with Li Hung Chang, and discussed the prospects of Chinese immigration to the Sandwich Islands. At Shanghai his majesty has been feted by society and the Masonic body of which he is a high dignitary. He has left Shanghai for Hongkong.

It is rumored that a strong cabal has been set on foot to displace Li Hung Chang.

Tseng Kwo Tsun has declined the appointment of viceroy of the northwestern frontier on the plea of ill health.

Sir John Smale, for many years chief justice of the colony of Hongkong, has retired and gone to England.

Japanese Affairs.

YOKOHAMA, April 21.—The resignation of Admiral Enomoto as minister of the navy is officially announced. Admiral Kawamura, who formerly occupied the post, has been appointed in his stead. Enomoto has been offered the mission to France but has declined.

A scheme has been projected for building nearly 1000 miles of railway running to the western and northern limits of the main island, and a native company is being organized for the purpose of carrying it out.

A motion for a new trial in the case of the Mitsu Bishi Mail Steamship Co. vs the Pacific Mail, was denied. Counsel for the defendants gave notice of appeal.

Native (Japanese) newspapers announce that the Corean government intends sending another embassy to Japan to inspect the educational and industrial establishments of the country.

Entries for July Races.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Entries for the July trotting meeting closed to-night. They number 187, the largest number ever entered in a meeting. They include the best horses in the country. Maud S and St. Julian are expected to trot for a special purse.

English Turfites Surprised.

The success of American horses is a genuine surprise to the English turf. Rivals are also creeping in from another quarter, two high class two year olds having landed last week from Australia.

WEST INDIES.

Cuban Affairs.

HAVANA, May 7.—Elections held Thursday for a partial renovation of the municipality of the island resulted generally in success for the conservatives. Of the [illegible] elected in Havana [illegible] are conservatives. Promulgation of the constitution caused great satisfaction as a preliminary step to many reforms. The press law is now identical the same as that in force in [illegible] monarchical countries.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The President's Purpose.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—It is understood to-day that the president has concluded not to [illegible] recall the [illegible] nominations of all [illegible] New York [illegible] Senators [illegible] will [illegible] the senate will [illegible] Robertson [illegible] New York [illegible] nominations were withdrawn together.

The Republican Caucus.

At the republican caucus called to meet Monday [illegible] the new phase of the deadlock [illegible] senators will contend [illegible] Conkling [illegible] complaint of Dawes and other republicans was [illegible] Hawley and Dawes [illegible] there will [illegible] to confirm Robertson [illegible].

The President Talks to Senators who Urge Compromise.

A senator who was [illegible] called upon the president [illegible] the interview [illegible] Conkling [illegible] Robertson [illegible] as an attempt to coerce him and he [illegible] the administration.

The Robertson Fight.

There is no indication that Conkling has yielded in any degree his determination to exhaust every possible resource to prevent Robertson from becoming collector of New York. For weeks he has been laboring with great assiduity among democratic senators to enlist their support. Among other circumstances that have attracted attention has been the part played by the vice president. It has been noticed during the last two or three weeks that he has quite frequently vacated the chair and has usually, although not invariably, caused a democrat to take it to preside. Either Harris, Bayard or Voorhees has been called upon such occasions, and, curiously enough, those three democratic senators are among those claimed as recent recruits to the anti-Robertson ranks. There are indications, however, that opposition to Robertson is weaker than it was a week ago, and there is every probability that he will be promptly confirmed whenever the case comes to a vote, and not by a majority composed of democratic votes either.

Blaine to Robertson.

Blaine telegraphed to Robertson last night that everything was going on as well as could be expected, congratulating him to keep a good heart and that he would eventually be collector of New York.

The Military Divisions.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—[illegible]

By direction of the president paragraphs [illegible] of general orders No. [illegible] from this office, constituting the department of Texas, and military division of the gulf are rescinded, and the boundary of the military divisions of the Missouri and of the Atlantic are restored to those that they were prior to the order of said orders, to wit: The military division of the Missouri to embrace the departments of Texas and Missouri as they existed before the publication of general orders No. 84 [illegible] and the military division of the Atlantic embraces the departments of the east and south as it was constituted prior to the issuance of general orders No. 84 of 1880. The records of the division of the gulf will be sent to the adjutant general of the army, those of the department of Arkansas, relating to troops in the department of the Missouri, to the headquarters of that department.

Bonds.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Amount of 6 per cent. bonds received at the treasury to-day for continuance at 3½ per cent. was $15,540,250; aggregate received to date, $107,185,700.

Negotiations with the United States of Colombia.

A curious but diplomatic history connected with the struggles of the last administration with so-called Monroe doctrine has just come to light. It consisted of an effort to secure radical amendment of the treaty of 1846 with New Granada, which defines the rights of the United States with respect to canal or other method of transit across the isthmus. By that treaty the United States guaranteed to New Granada the neutrality of the isthmus, but there was no provision setting forth which party was to decide when the time for interfering to protect this neutrality had arrived. In order to define this branch of the subject clearly, and to give the United States all the power which it were had claimed in its version of what is termed the Monroe doctrine, a commissioner was sent by the state department with the draft of a protocol to be signed by the minister of the United States of Colombia, who is recently at the capital and which Mr. [illegible] signed [illegible] government. By this protocol the United States was made the sole judge of when the time might arrive for interfering. In order to guarantee the neutrality of the isthmus, and when it was decided by the United States that such time had come, then this government was to have the right to occupy the isthmus with a military and naval force along the line of any proposed canal, and to build, protect and defend such fortifications as it might be deemed prudent or necessary to erect in order to fulfill its treaty obligations to Colombia. There was great pressure to secure if possible the ratification of this protocol before the close of Hayes' administration, but the Colombian minister was in no haste, and concluded to take the protocol home with him for the purpose of more deliberate consideration, and also to await the coming change of administration here. His return is expected within a short time.

The Mormon Question.

One of the president's personal friends is authority for the statement that the president is quite anxious, so soon as there is any let up of the existing pressure, to consider some practical and speedy plan of dealing with the Mormon question. The recent arrival in New York of some hundreds of Mormon immigrants, and the departure from the same port of forty Mormon missionaries, with a view of increasing the field of polygamous immigration, have intensified in his mind the desire expressed in his inaugural, while respecting to the utmost the conscientious convictions and religious scruples of every citizen, to prohibit all criminal practice, especially of that class which destroy the family relations and endangers social order. He is equally decided in his opinion that no ecclesiastical organization can safely be permitted to usurp in the smallest degree the functions and powers of the national government. Recent attacks by Mormon church leaders on Governor Murray, of Utah, who is a personal friend of the president, and upon Gen. M. M. Bane, of Illinois, because of their anti-polygamous sentiments, have excited some considerable feeling in his mind. The renomination of the latter gentleman as receiver of public lands in Utah is tied up in the senate on charges preferred by Delegate Cannon. Among suggested plans the one proposed by ex-Governor Fuller, of Utah, in the Herald, of pushing a presidential proclamation against the practice of polygamy, is receiving attention. A. G. Campbell, the anti-polygamy delegate from that territory, has written a strong letter favoring it. Meanwhile Senator Logan, to whom the president confided the championship of his anti-polygamy policy in the senate, is actively considering what legislation can best be had to meet the desired end.

The Milk in the Cocoanut.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The pamphlet recently issued by the State Medical Society of California advocating abolition of the marine hospital service on grounds that it is not charity but an unnecessary usurpation of the duties of the profession, has attracted some attention at the treasury department on account of its authorship, and called for the following suggestive comments: "The President, W. F. [illegible], of San Francisco, who has been fighting the society with pamphlets against the U. S. marine hospital service was surgeon of the marine hospital at San Francisco for about seven years at a salary of $[illegible] per annum. Being relieved in [illegible] he endeavored to obtain a revocation of the order from Secretary Sherman. Was, however, sustained [illegible] the order, whereupon [illegible] resigned. [illegible] the [illegible] the marine hospital service [illegible] yielded him seven years' salary [illegible] $21,000."

What one big Man thinks of Another.

[From one of Beecher's Recent Sermons.]

No generous heart loves to speak of faults, but when I look at the moving ideas of Beaconsfield's life—the line of his literature, the line of his statesmanship, the line of his inspiration—I ask myself What new truth has he discovered, what old truth has he left burning brighter than it was? What more heroic ideal has he attained in human life, what advance in human society? What single good quality has he made more resplendent, noble and desirable by the whole human race? His is one of those names that, like a pyrotechnic display, burns brilliantly for the admiration of the crowd. When the wheel ceases to revolve it goes out. It is forgotten. His life is ended; his power is ended and he leaves nothing behind him but the name—the name!

APPEALS THROUGH A DENVER COURT FOR HIS PAY.

A Chance for Somebody to Rise and Explain—Smallpox in an American Ship at Victoria—A Prominent Mussel-Slough Settler Evicted and How It was Done—Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DENVER, May 8.—The Tribune says: Yesterday proceedings were begun in the district court [illegible] against ex-Senator Dorsey [illegible] for services in procuring petitions [illegible] in [illegible] certain portions of Oregon. What brings [illegible] Portland, Oregon, a claim for collection against Dorsey. Clatman is a well known politician of Portland, who came [illegible]. The latter had a number of letters written [illegible] for [illegible] per day for [illegible] services and giving minute directions how to get [illegible] petitions, make contracts, etc. These letters with the claim were placed in the hands of Denver attorneys, and last winter when Dorsey came to Denver to look after his mining interests he was visited by the attorney and the bundle of letters alleged to have been written by him, shown him in support of the claim. Dorsey pronounced the claim a fraud and denounced the claimant as a blackmailer. Proceedings were immediately begun in district court. Dorsey instructed his counsel to enter a demurrer on the ground that these contracts were illegal. Until now the matter has rested. [illegible] One letter is dated Washington, April [illegible] and tells the correspondent that he wants [illegible] Eugene City and to [illegible] petitions for the increase of mail service from Eugene to Bridge Creek, made instead of weekly, [illegible] to have the time made faster. The letter continues: "I want ten or a dozen on this route, and also get the people to write to the postmaster general and their senators. We want you to get them to write to Slater and Grover, urging them to get the increase made. The correspondent is further directed to get [illegible] twelve affidavits on each route. Have a large number of letters [illegible] to the postmaster general and [illegible] Be sure that all ask for a daily and fast line. Get the state officers and the [illegible] at Portland to write. I will pay your expenses while gone and $5 per day. If you have not means, telegraph you sufficient. The second letter, written four days later, states that contracts are closed for the route from Bridge Creek to Eugene City, which under contract is [illegible] trips per week and says that if the schedule time is changed, a new contract must be made, and continues: "The [illegible] we can do (and there must be guaranteed a bond for fulfillment of the contract) is $7500 per annum for three trips weekly. Time, a hundred hours which is slow walking time." The writer further says: "I place the contract thus: Three trips weekly, $7500; for running six trips weekly, $14,000; seven trips, $16,500; the contracts run until July 1, 1882, and must be filed in Washington." He says further: "Must have a new contract [illegible] the latter route as follows: For three trips, $2904; you may go to $4000; for six trips, $5500; for seven trips, $[illegible]. No contract is binding upon us, [illegible] until approved by M. C. Riddle, agent for Mr. Fink [illegible] has contract. I don't want it filed. I will pay him monthly if he wants, but don't want my contracts on file here." The letter closes by exhorting the correspondent to send petitions, etc., by the card and to [illegible] Slater and Assistant Postmaster General Brady. Another of the same sort relating to a Washington territory contract is published. These letters will be produced in court as evidence to support the claim.

POSTAL CROOKEDNESS UNEARTHED.

Sundry Contractors Charged with Conspiracy to Defraud the Government by the Execution of Straw Bonds—Important Disclosures Looked for.

[illegible], May 8.—U. S. Commissioner Smith this afternoon issued a warrant for the arrest of [illegible] charged with having committed frauds upon the government in connection with executing [illegible] bonds for star route contractors. [illegible] were arrested [illegible] before the commissioner. [illegible] Joseph [illegible] and [illegible] a district attorney who [illegible] at the [illegible] produced [illegible] evidence [illegible] in July, 1871, [illegible] charged with [illegible] to rob the government [illegible] with perjury. The bonds are said to be [illegible]. All the [illegible] was nothing. [illegible] His salary [illegible] was to carry the mails [illegible] 1, 1881, to June 30, 1882, on route 32,022, between Fort Griffin and Fort Elliott, Texas, for [illegible] per annum. Blackmore was to carry the mails [illegible] between same dates on route No. [illegible] between [illegible] and Fort Stockton, Texas, for $[illegible] per year. The contracts were performed by other parties at greatly increased rates. There is another contract Blackmore for $1600, which provides for [illegible] made from Oct. 1, 1879, to June 30, 1882, between Fort Elliott and Wichita Falls, Texas, for [illegible]. This contract was also filled by others at [illegible] prices. The defendants were each placed under [illegible] bail for another hearing at noon to-morrow. Oscon was the only one who was [illegible] bail. Warrants were also issued for the arrest of J. R. Black and Henry C. Asher, [illegible] in the office of Charles W. Matthews [illegible]. Government officials are very reticent [illegible] important disclosures are expected to follow these arrests.

They Must Go.

Postmaster General James says, he will not rest until every official implicated in the star route frauds, is dismissed. On Monday morning Sixth Auditor McGrew and [illegible] and their deputies will be removed.

THE MINOR PLANETS.

What is Known of Them in Brief.

M. Nyston, of the Brussels observatory, has recently given a resume of our knowledge of the minor planets between Mars and Jupiter, which now exceed 200, and are yearly increasing. The number of those annually discovered had been increasing, but in 1880 fell to six. The average size had been gradually diminishing. The first were of eighth to ninth magnitude, the last are of eleventh to twelfth. The average volume of these more lately discovered is one-fifth of that of Ceres, Pallas, Juno and Vesta (those first perceived). Vesta, the largest, is probably about five hundred kilom. diameter. It is a little smaller in ratio to the earth than the earth is to Jupiter. The smallest, Echo, is about twenty kilom. diameter, and smaller in ratio to Ceres than Ceres to the earth. It may be said roughly that the sun is a thousand times the volume of Jupiter, Jupiter a thousand times that of the earth, the earth a thousand times that of Vesta, and Vesta a thousand times that of Echo. Probably Echo is a thousand times the volume of the largest bolides that come daily into the earth's atmosphere, and one of these is at least 1000 times that of meteors in a stream of falling stars. The minor planets circulate in orbits whose mean distance from the sun varies from two to five times the distance of the earth from the sun. The thickness of the zone they traverse is about four to five hundred million kilometres. The small planet which approaches nearest the earth in its perihelion is Aetna, which, entering the orbit of Mars, may be caught by him and serve as a new satellite. The one that goes farthest away in its aphelion is Hilda, which, again, may be caught by Jupiter.

A SICKENING STORY.

How Emigrants are Packed like Sardines in a Box on Atlantic Ships—What a Lady Saw.

[illegible] May [illegible] writes to the Pall Mall Gazette a letter [illegible] which [illegible] Monday, May 2, [illegible] emigrants on the steamer [illegible]. Following are the most [illegible] wealth from of the ship all was gold and [illegible]. We had come on board to [illegible] emigrants and we determined to see their quarters first. When we saw the quarters [illegible] descriptions of slave ships flashed across me. To [illegible] place our guide showed us a deep hole, saying: "I will not take you down there. It is much worse than you see, but my heart is [illegible] with the women's quarters and we went there between two decks, better lighted than the men's quarters. [illegible] the outer walls of the ship, were [illegible] enormous [illegible] What was going on in two other hammocks over them, [illegible] The [illegible] of those hammocks [illegible] the people. They were made of wall of the [illegible] all around from hooks, were perfectly flat. Narrow strips of sail cloth divided this great bed into berths. These strips of cloth when the mattresses were on formed divisions about eight inches high. When the mattresses are in it must be almost on a level. Now in these beds the hundreds of men and women. Any man who comes with a woman who is or who called herself his wife slept as a matter of right in the midst of hundreds of young women who are compelled to live in his presence day and night. If they remove their clothes they must do so under his eyes. If they lie down to rest it must be beside him. It is well enough to speak of these things, but to destroy evils as evil it is necessary to look at these abodes of misery in daylight, and who open for inspection this are empty and swept and disinfected. But think of the scene in the darkness of night, the ship pitching in a rough sea, when a glimmering lamp or two makes visible to you this mass of moving humanity. Look at that young mother with two or three helpless babes in the agonies of sea sickness, unable to move between prostrate bodies of her fellow sufferers. Look at this mass of stretched living among dead and dying, and also women, women, and half starved with suffocation and seasickness at the [illegible] and groans of hundreds. If she wakes and rises to save her soul whither shall she go? She must tread on the writhing bodies of men and women. The spectacle is too horrible to be looked at; the sound is too dreadful to listen to. This is no brutal or opium dream. It is the truth. It is a living terror menacing the lives, bodies and souls of hundreds and thousands of our fellow country women. The ship on which I saw these things was supposed to carry in this manner 1000 steerage passengers. She carried last year on the voyage 1750 emigrants.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

According to figures just compiled at Washington the amount of stock in this country is as below: Cattle, 33,234,800; Swine, 34,563,100; sheep, 38,126,800; horses, 10,938,700; mules and asses, 1,715,100.

Of the prince imperial of France in his childhood Merimee says that one day at Biarritz they made the little fellow take his first sea bath and unwisely threw him in the water head first, so that he was much frightened. "They approached him and asked why he, who did not wince before a loaded cannon, was afraid of the sea?" He replied calmly: "Because I command the cannon, and I do not command the sea." Merimee adds: "This appeared very philosophical to me, for a prince who was not yet six years old."

The London Truth says the new emperor of Russia is economical to the verge of parsimony. "As Czarewitch he looked after every penny, and in his palace there was neither waste nor extravagance. He groaned over the lavish generosity of his father to the very questionable gang who had only to make debts for their imperial master to pay them. One thing at least is certain, that the emperor will wage a war of extermination against peculators, and will not allow any friends or ministers of his to dip their hands into the public treasury."

5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insoluble Snuffs cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

THE POSTAL CONTRACT FRAUDS.

Investigation of the postal contract frauds is not to be satisfied to sleep by "influence" or not to stifle it. The new postmaster-general is doing his duty. The inquiry he has set on foot, pursuing the track of the ring through its devious ways, finds the "sign" leading up to the office of the sixth auditor—that is, the auditor of the treasury for the post office department; and this official and certain of his subordinates are to follow Brady into retirement. Their dismissal is necessary for more effective prosecution of the investigation. McGrew, sixth auditor, has certified to all the claims. Lilly, deputy sixth auditor, is a son of a regular attorney of one of the gangs of star route contractors, and was the legal adviser of Brady. It is interesting to find an office of the treasury, which has the accounting of transactions involving more than thirty millions of dollars, organized in favor of plunderers of the treasury.

Some days ago we had by telegraph a statement of the aggregate increase of pay on 93 routes, which showed that the aggregate for which these routes were originally let was $727,119, and that the increased pay subsequently allowed carried the total up to $2,802,214. The aggregate of increase, therefore, was $2,075,095, a sum equal to nearly three times the original figures. Allowing the same rate of increase for the other routes "expedited," the aggregate of Brady's arbitrary awards would be $6,275,285. We now have a detailed statement of the amounts of the original contracts for the 93 routes thus far investigated, with an exhibit in the case of each one which shows the sum by which the compensation was increased. Certain Oregon routes appear in this table as follows. The first column of figures shows the original annual pay, the second column the increase, and the third the total amount now allowed:

Eugene to Mitchell, J. M. Peck.....	$2458	$18,992	$21,450
Roseburg to Empire City, J. H. Warren....	5803	7,972	13,775
The Dalles to Lake View, J. W. Dorsey....	3088	17,212	20,300
The Dalles to Baker City, J. M. Peck....	8288	64,232	72,520
Canyon City to Camp McDermott, J. M. Peck....	2888	18,612	21,500

Starting on these five Oregon routes with $22,532, the ring succeeded in getting the figures raised to $149,555, or nearly seven fold. The operators in these transactions belong to the Dorsey branch of the contract ring. The head of it is believed to be Stephen W. Dorsey, ex-senator from Arkansas and secretary of the national republican committee. J. W. Dorsey, whose name appears only once in the above list, though it appears elsewhere in the contracts very frequently, as he has many "expedited" routes in Arizona, Colorado, Dakota, etc., is a brother of the said Stephen W. Dorsey, and is regarded as his representative in the star route business. J. M. Peck, who has three of these Oregon contracts, is also connected with the Dorsey interest; and J. R. Minor, in whose name many star contracts stand, appears to be another of the same family. A significant circumstance which recently came to light connects the Arkansas ex-senator unmistakably with these men and the transactions carried on in their names. Some time ago he borrowed from James A. Bosler, of Pennsylvania, an old Indian contractor, $50,000, transferring therefor to Bosler, as collateral, part of his interest in the routes of J. W. Dorsey, J. M. Peck and J. R. Minor to an amount largely in excess of the sum borrowed, the difference being charged for interest and discount. It is said that the interest of the Arkansas ex-senator in the contracts of this gang is equal to $250,000 of profits per annum. Some years ago he was known to be extremely poor. But of late he has been living in luxurious prodigality, owing his opulence to no apparent source of honorable gain or prosperity.

An essential part of this ring organization is maintenance in the contract office of special friends to look after the interests of contractors. The move now to be made by the postmaster general on the auditor's office shows that the same system is more than suspected there. All the ring operations are supported on the outside by influential persons; and as it can hardly be supposed that politicians who have "influence" which they are ready to use are so disinterested as to exert it for obtaining money by millions, without insisting on a share of the profits for themselves, the natural conclusion is that all these men require large pecuniary rewards for their services. The grabbers are organized into several firms, which, like robbers sharing plunder together, divide the star route territory between them, and each firm makes all it can. Besides the Dorsey gang, above spoken of, there is the firm of O. J. Salisbury, F. W. Gilmore, Luke Voorhees and Hugh White, who pull together for their mutual account and advantage, keep an attorney or representative at Washington, to whom they pay $12,000 a year, and make enormous profits over all expenses; the firm of J. L. Sanderson & Co., some of whose members have frequently operated in the Pacific states and territories, and who have the political backing of J. B. Chaffee, ex-senator from Colorado, Richard McCormick, of Arizona, formerly secretary of the republican national committee and representative of the United States at the Paris exposition, Congressman Page of California and others; and J. R. Price, J. T. Chichester, Cornelius Cosgrove and several more, who with the help of various connections in the department and out of it, drive a thriving business in star route manipulations. Among Cosgrove's contracts is that for the Las Vegas and Las Cruses route in New Mexico. It was originally let for about $15,000 and soon thereafter raised to $91,000. Cosgrove is backed by S. B. Elkins, formerly a delegate to congress from New Mexico, Logan H. Roots, formerly a member of congress from Arkansas and now president of the Merchants' bank of Little Rock, and R. C. Kerns, of St. Louis, a stage and express owner and a director of the Iron Mountain Railroad Company. Through the influence of these persons the pay of the Las Vegas route was increased to over $91,000, but of this amount Cosgrove has informed many persons that he received only $56,000, being compelled to give Kerns drafts for the remainder on the sixth auditor against his pay. Thus Kerns received for the services and influence of his group $35,000. Cosgrove paid this tribute for one year and then gave his brother Michael a sub-contract for the route for the round sum of $91,000, which sub-contract was filed in the post office department. This cut off the remaining drafts given to Kerns, and led to a row between Cosgrove and Kerns, which was amicably settled during the time the last congress was investigating the star service; and thus exposure was prevented. Among those whose names figure in the transactions is one A. H. Brown, who for several years was a corresponding clerk in the contract office and who was in charge of star routes in California, Nevada, Oregon, and some of the territories. When Postmaster-General James made a raid on the straw bidders in 1875, Brown was among those dismissed from the department. Immediately after his discharge he fled to Canada in order to avoid being summoned as a witness during the investigation conducted by Mr. Jewell. Upon his return to Washington he cultivated Gen. Brady's friendship, and since 1877 has been in high favor in the contract office. A. S. Patrick of Omaha, is Brown's partner, and Patrick is backed by ex-Gov. Thayer of Wyoming. Brown and Patrick were given the route from Rock Creek to Fort Custer at the rate of $12,000 per annum, which was increased by Brady to $90,000. Brown's intimacy with the contract office secured the additional $78,000.

These are only a few instances of a multitude unearthed from this vast mine of corruption, fraud and peculation. The whole results are likely to be exposed, though it is hardly probable that the details will all be obtained, as the conspirators are bound to a course of secrecy for their own safety. Dorsey, Brady and the rest profess to be indignant on account of the investigation. They claim that they elected Garfield, and yet his administration, with a lack of gratitude which it pains them to witness, is sharply after them. The cleaning of the sixth auditor's office is one more step towards thoroughness. It means that the investigation is not to stop with Brady, but to go behind him, without regard to influence or reputations.

CANADIAN DISCONTENT

Unless the newspapers of Canada badly represent the feelings of the people, there is a good deal of discontent in that country. Government, as is usual, is the object of it. "We are governed too much" is a phrase of common use now by Canadian newspapers and speakers. Strenuous efforts have for years been made to induce immigration, but the gain in this direction has been far more than balanced by emigration. There are tracts upon tracts of good land unoccupied in the Dominion, yet there is an exodus of farmers to the United States. The Toronto Globe gives the following reason:

> It cannot be concealed—it is no use in concealing the truth—that many of our people think the American republic better than our Dominion, because it is a republican country. It has a charm for them. As the poor American slaves used to watch the northern star when sighing for liberty prior to 1860, and wended their way by circuitous routes to Canada, so the people of Europe and many of our people are attracted by the fame, glory, the free intercourse, as they think—the free life of the great republic.

A reviewer tells us that this language is not confined to the political party which is out of power, but is also to be found in journals nominally supporting the government. We are told that the officeholders of Canada besides being unreasonably numerous and overpaid, are exempt from income taxation, while the mechanic, clerk or anybody else out of official position is taxed on all his income over $400 a year. The governor-general, with a salary of $50,000 and numerous allowances, is free from the grip that therefore tightens itself all the more on the poor man's earnings. With a population of less than the state of New York, Canada has seven local governors, lieutenant governors, cabinets and legislatures, besides the general government. Looking across the line from such a condition of affairs, Canadians naturally see little in our politics that by contrast is not at least better than theirs.

THE NEW ASSESSMENT LAW.

There has never been a pretense that the assessment rolls of the several counties represented anything like the aggregate market value of the taxable property in Oregon. At times there seems to have been a rivalry among the assessors in the matter of making low assessments. Real estate especially has often been valued at less than 50 per cent. of its worth in the market. Multnomah county has not by any means been alone in this work, nor has she escaped the payment of her just proportion of the state taxes, oftener than other counties. This year, however, the valuation is likely to be very materially increased, as the legislature last fall amended the law, and the assessors are now bound by their oath to value all taxable property at its "true cash value." The only indebtedness allowed to be deducted is that owed within the state, and every person claiming a deduction on account of indebtedness is required to furnish the assessor with a sworn statement or list of the names and residence of the parties to whom the debts are due. There may not be as great an amount of indebtedness as before, but the plan will uncover a good many sums which have heretofore escaped taxation altogether. Under the old law the party was only required to swear that he owed so much money to persons within the state and the assessor was bound to deduct it; now the name and residence of each creditor must be given or the debtor cannot have the benefit of the reduction. The tax roll of Multnomah county will probably foot up at least 25 per cent. more this year than ever before; and if other counties increase proportionately the state treasury ought to accumulate funds to pay off all indebtedness and have money to spare.

There is every probability that the monetary conference at Paris will result in nothing. It is impossible to get over the fact that gold is the stable money of the world. Silver answers a necessary purpose, and each nation may coin all the silver it may need for subsidiary purposes; but the idea of making a "double standard" will have to be given up as impracticable. The circulation of every great commercial nation will absorb a large amount of silver, but in so far as there is any standard, that standard will be gold. A higher law has settled this beyond reversal by any conference.

The average southern town, which has grown up since the war, surrounding a railroad station, is described as consisting of two to five drinking saloons, a few stores and a series of cabins or shanties of planks or logs, set hither and thither, without much reference to a town in the future. Through a long range of country there are no fences on the side of the railroad track. The trains are kept continually whistling to avoid running over cattle or mules. This is the case within sight of Montgomery, Ala., where there are some 16,000 inhabitants.

A Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune asserts that Blaine's relations with Garfield were never closer than at present; that he accepted a place in the cabinet with the express understanding that his supporters at Chicago were to be recognized; that the appointments of Chandler and Robertson were in fulfillment of this agreement and that they will be adhered to by himself and the president. This was said a fortnight ago. The shape which affairs are now taking confirms this in a rather striking manner.

Ohio stands by President Garfield. And so the Ohio State Journal resolutely says: "Mr. Roscoe Conkling did not make the republican party, and he cannot destroy it. Greater men than Conkling, claiming to be republican leaders, have essayed to break up and destroy the party. They succeeded in putting themselves into political holes out of which they vainly essay to crawl."

Rhode Island and Massachusetts are again trying to settle a boundary dispute that has been in controversy for two hundred years. The sympathies of the world will be with "little Rhody," which by one of the proposed lines will gain about 310 acres—not much, it is true, in a state like Oregon, but of considerable importance to the smallest state in the union.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH.

Such as SPERMATORRHOEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be affected by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit their diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blasted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

CITY.

HOOD RIVER.—A correspondent writing from Hood River under date of May 5th says: "Five years ago Hood river began to attract the notice of the people of western Oregon and Washington territory, and also those of the eastern states, in such a manner that a colony came from Pennsylvania and New York and settled here. A few of the colony, after arriving here went to other parts of Oregon and Washington territory, but the most of them have settled in this valley and have made homes where they will remain. News of the superior inducements offered in the mildness of the climate and fertility of the soil has reached Germany, and in consequence is that a number of Germans have settled on the east side of the river and some on the west side, also some on the White Salmon opposite Hood river on the north side of the Columbia. Five years ago there were but three flat boats and one steamer that did all the freighting, etc., on the middle Columbia. Now there are five large steamers, two small steamers, three large barges, and a large fleet of flat boats. Five years ago there was no store at Hood River. Now we have two good stores and a good hotel. The valley has quite a number of fine orchards, and from present indications there will be peaches plentiful in the Portland market this year, as well as small fruits."

SCARCITY OF SAILORS.—There is a great scarcity of sailors, not only at this port but in San Francisco. Sailors are even in more demand than railroad laborers. It is said the principal reason for this is found in the number who have entered the salmon fisheries of the Columbia. At one time last week seven deep water vessels were detained in San Francisco harbor, all loaded, but without crews and unable to get them. Sailors on the Sound are quite independent, and they ask awful prices for short runs, as $40 for the ten-day trip to San Francisco. Nobody is paying that rate, to be sure, but $2 a day, or at the rate of $60 a month, is freely offered. The entire crew of the Olinda have deserted, and officers are out looking for them. These sailors signed papers for the round trip—to this port and return. On finding sailors' wages greatly advanced owing to the scarcity, the crew want to break their engagement and thus take advantage of the increased wages offered.

NEW CHURCH FONT.—The congregation at the Unitarian church received great pleasure yesterday from the first view of a baptismal font, which is placed in the church, as a memorial to Mrs. Anna Cook, who died January 4, 1881. The font is the gift of J. W. Cook, Esq., of this city. It is made of Caen stone, richly ornamented with a border of water lilies or lotus flowers, the work of John Evans, sculptor, Huntingdon avenue bridge, Boston, from designs by the architects of the church, Peabody & Stearns, of the same city. The font was intended for presentation Easter Sunday, but was detained on the way—probably by the late floods. It will be used for the first time on Sunday, June 5th. The society is indebted to Messrs. Chalmers & Holmes, of this city, for their care and courtesy in setting the stone. This memorial gift will be valued both for its beauty and as a constant reminder of the venerable lady whose love for the church is represented in it.

AN UNPROVOKED ASSAULT.—Constable George H. Ward arrested a man yesterday afternoon named Logan at the corner of Alder and Second streets and escorted him to the county jail. It seems that a number of Chinamen were standing near the corner of the street engaged in a rather animated discussion over some matter when Logan came along. Without the least excuse or provocation Logan walked up to a small Chinaman, who was standing in the group, and struck him a powerful blow on the mouth, cutting his lips quite severely. Constable Ward, who witnessed the unprovoked assault, immediately arrested Logan and, notwithstanding his resistance, marched him off to the county jail.

A HEAVY FALL.—Johnny Kelly, one of the postal route agents between this city and The Dalles, met with a very painful accident at the Cascades on Friday. He attempted to jump from one of the steamers across to the other, which was lying alongside. Just as he was landing his head came in violent collision with a protruding water spout. The blow cut his scalp slightly and knocked him down. He fell to the deck of the boat, a distance of about ten feet, and it is thought fractured one or more of his ribs. Since the accident Mr. Kelly has suffered considerable pain in his side and back and has been unable to do anything.

A SURE FOUNDATION.—Capt. J. C. Ainsworth's new brick building at the corner of Oak and Third streets, will be one of the most substantial structures in the city. The building will be 100x100 feet, and three stories high. The foundation will be most massive, and ought to be able to withstand the ravages of a century or more. The basement walls will be about fourteen feet high, built of stone, the foundation laid in gravel and cement. The walls will be five feet thick at the bottom, and three feet at the top. The contractors for the foundation walls are Messrs. McCollough & Martin.

OPEN TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The rooms of the Y. M. C. A. were well filled on Saturday evening last, and the audience was profited by the excellent speeches of Chaplain Stubbs and Mrs. Dr. Thompson as well as delighted by the singing of Miss Annie Biggs. Miss Biggs has only recently come to the city, and her selections and renderings do her great credit. She seems to have perfect control of the feelings of her audience. She is to sing and give a recitation at the Open Temperance concert on Saturday evening next at the same rooms, where the public will again enjoy a treat.

RUN OVER.—Saturday evening about dusk, as I. G. Williams, son of Capt R. Williams, was driving a spirited young horse down Washington street, the youngest child of Mr. L. G. Pfunder, the well known florist, ran into the street, and was either kicked by the horse or run over by a wheel, possibly both. The little one sustained severe injuries about the head, and blood flowed freely from its ears. The exact nature of the wounds cannot be ascertained, and attending physicians are unable to form an opinion as to whether the injuries will probably prove fatal or not.

WILL PARTICIPATE.—The East Portland correspondent of the Telegram says: "It is more than likely that East Portland will join in with her big sister over the river in celebrating the Fourth of July. A meeting of the citizens will be called for some evening next week for the purpose of considering the matter. Mr. Neppach has kindly tendered the use of his hall, free of charge, on Tuesday evening, and it is more than likely that his offer will be accepted and a meeting called for that evening."

CLEARING THE WAY.—Messrs. D. P. Thompson, J. B. David and Joseph Smith, contractors for clearing the timber along the line of the O. R. & N. Co.'s roadway, are pushing the work along rapidly. Between Sandy and the Lower Cascades the roadway is cleared of all standing and fallen timber. Twenty-four miles of the roadway is cleared beyond the Upper Cascades—reaching to Hood River. One hundred and fifty white men are at work and sixty Chinamen.

STRANGE FREAK.—About half past 11 o'clock last night, Joseph Oliver, a soldier aged eighteen, picked up a bowlder and threw it at the show window of Powers' furniture store, on First street. Fortunately it missed the pane and did no damage. Oliver was not drunk, and when questioned as to the reason of the act replied that he wanted to be sent up for two or three months so as to get out of the army.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At the annual election of officers of the Hebrew Benevolent Society held Sunday, the following gentlemen were chosen: president, L. Fleischner; vice president, L. H. Lewis; secretary, M. Bachman; treasurer, Chas. Fishel; trustees, S. Hirsch and H. Ackerman.

GRANGE PICNIC.—The granges of Salem and Turner will unite with Round Prairie Grange in holding a picnic and meeting at Brooks station on Friday, May 20th. Addresses are expected from Judge R. P. Boise, ex-Master Daniel Clark, Hon. John Minto, Wm. Hillery and others.

LENTAL OFFERINGS.—Bishop Morris requests that the Lenten S. S. Missionary Offerings in his jurisdiction and the contents of the family missionary boxes be sent to him without delay, that they may be forwarded together to New York.

DEATH OF MRS. CURRIER.—On the 24th of April the mother of Wm. Currier, of this city, died at Newburyport, Mass., at the advanced age of ninety-three years and six months. Mrs. Currier left ten children, five sons and five daughters.

THE STEAMERS.—The "State" arrived in Astoria at 7 A. M. yesterday, left at 9, and arrived here at 4:30 P. M. The Columbia remained over night in Astoria to take in a lot of salmon and wheat and leaves for sea at 7 o'clock this morning.

BOARD OF TRADE.—The regular monthly meeting of the Portland board of trade will be held this (Monday) evening at the room in New Market building—that is to say, a meeting will be held if a quorum can be scared up.

A SEVERE LOSS.—Mr. Albert Bartsch lost by death a valuable cow some time since, and on Saturday a fine mare was taken suddenly sick and died.

SPECIAL MEETING.—There will be a special meeting of the common council this (Monday) evening for the transaction of general business.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD TEMPLARS.—Bethel Home lodge meets at 8 P. M. to-night, corner of Third and D streets. Installation.

MAIL.—The steamer State of California brought about 70 sacks of mail matter, 11 sacks of which were registered.

HAIR GOODS. The ladies should note that Mr. Williams' large stock of hair goods are offered for 10 days only at cost. This is the last chance. The place is at Mrs. L. F. Mathews, 143 Second street.

The ratification of the Chinese treaty will be celebrated by Uncle Myers, in a manner worthy of the occasion, consequently his rate of interest will be lowered.

NEW DEPARTURE.—Neubauer, the well known tailor, in addition to making up gentlemen's dress and business suits as formerly, will take orders for suits for ladies, ladies' riding garments, and suits for livery. Having had calls for such work, and recently secured the services of a cutter who understands the work, he is now prepared to receive orders.

S. Friedman, auctioneer, will sell on the premises, No. [illegible] Fifth street, between Washington and Stark, on Wednesday, May 11th, a lot of household goods.

Have you heard the news? Slaughtering millinery goods at the Postoffice Millinery Store. Sun hats from 5 cents up; large stock of boys' hats at cost; trimmed hats at $1, and everything in proportion. Yours truly, H. M. DEAL, The Milliner.

Cream caramels a specialty, made fresh every day. Wholesale and retail at Durner's Post Office Candy Store, opposite post office, Fifth and Morrison.

The only coupes in town are at Acker & Leiby's City Stables.

Spring Lamb, very choice, at Hoffman's.

Baby carriages for the million at Beck & Son's.

Eastern and Olympia oysters—Waller's, 86 First.

Sweet and good—Hoffman's stall fed beef.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE OLYMPICS.—Very creditable indeed were the performances given Saturday afternoon and evening at New Market Theater by the Olympic Club of this city. The various exhibitions of gymnastics given by the members of this club were not unworthy of professionals and reflected great credit on them. In the evening the opening feature, "Marching and Calisthenics" by the members, was very neatly executed and won a round of applause. "Grand Pyramids," by Bannister, Mutt, Davis, Martin, Doland, Moore, Ward, Sharp, J. and T. Dunbar, Berry, and Garland (six clowns), was excellently well done. Following this came "Parallel Bars and Grouping," by Bannister, Mutt, Martin, Davis, Doland, Moore, Sharp, J. and T. Dunbar and Garland, which was but little, if any, below a professional standard. The double trapeze act, by Messrs. Martin and Davis was a piece of skillful and daring gymnastics. The men were vociferously applauded at the conclusion of the act. The performance on the horizontal bar, by members of the club, was really excellent, and a number of acts of special merit loudly applauded. J. F. Muth, gave a splendid exhibition with the Indian clubs—one of the best ever seen in the city. The "Ladder Pyramids," which concluded the performance, was the best feature of the evening. During the evening, Mr. Edgar L. Coursen, rendered a violin solo, Miss J. H. Wyatt a pleasant ballad, Miss Lizzie Anderson gave a vocal solo, and W. H. Kinross, a selection entitled "I fear no Foe, with shining Armour."

THE BIG FOUR.—The minstrels played to jammed houses at The Dalles Friday and Saturday nights, and will return here this evening to play the remainder of the week. "The Big Four," Morton, Haverly and the Diamond Brothers, will present to-night for the first time their great well and ladder act, spoken of as the biggest thing of the kind ever put on the minstrel stage. To judge by the attendance last week and the interest sustained, crowded houses will be the order during this week.

DEATH OF A NOTED CHARACTER.

"Tommy Patterson" who has lived here for ten years died suddenly in his room above the fish market on Yamhill street, between First and Second, early Saturday morning, from the effects of hard drink. Coroner Garfield was summoned, and after making inquiries into the case, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Patterson was well known about town, and for the past few years has earned a scanty living by doing errands and light jobs of work. His story is rather remarkable.

He was born in Paterson, N. J., was a printer in the New York Herald office for a number of years, was one of the first to take the California gold fever and went there in 1849; was on the first U. S. frigate that raised the U. S. flag in that newly acquired territory, a member of the California legislature in 1850 from Tuolumne county, and gave his vote for Milton S. Latham for United States senator. He was at one time wealthy, but lost his property through bad speculation and drink. Even in his shattered condition he was known as a man of unusual intelligence and much political knowledge. He had a great dread of dying in the poor house and always begged that he never be sent there. About six months ago he became sick and was sent to the hospital, which he left as soon as he was able to walk. Ten days since his system gave way to the advance of disease and he was near dying with an attack similar to that which finally carried him off. He was 61 years of age and leaves friends in Paterson with whom he had no communication for many years.

FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

Deputy Sheriff Minto and Posse, of Marion County, Come out Second Best.

It will be remembered that McKinney & Smith's store at Turner's Station was robbed last Tuesday night of $200 worth of goods by unknown parties. Deputy Sheriff Minto, of Marion county, was informed of the crime, organized a small posse, and went in search of the burglars. By diligent inquiry and active exertions, they tracked the robbers to a thick underbrush, about one mile north of Jefferson and east of the railroad track. Early Saturday morning, just after daybreak, the desperadoes, three in number, came out from their ambush and started south with the evident intention of crossing the railroad bridge over the Santiam. One fellow was armed with a Winchester rifle and the other two with double-barrel shotguns. Minto and his crowd followed, and when within 250 yards the former commanded the robbers to halt. They obeyed, and turning around one of the gang fired his rifle and sent a ball through the hat of one of Minto's men. As the latter were armed only with revolvers further chase was abandoned and the robbers proceeded on their way south. They left in the brush two bundles containing some of the goods stolen from the store.

ANOTHER STATE FAIR EXHIBIT.

These world-renowned manufacturers of farm machinery, Messrs. D. M. Osborne & Co., of Auburn, New York, have secured 30 by 100 feet of the old pavilion on the state fair grounds, at Salem, and intend to make an interesting and "exhaustive" exhibition at the coming annual exhibition of the State Agricultural Society. They will put up a line of shafting and with steam furnished from one of their portable engines, will keep their threshers, reapers, mowers, etc., in motion during the business hours of each day in fair week. They will also exhibit their improved twine binder and other last improved agricultural implements. Their exhibition will be interesting not only to the farmer but every visitor at the fair will be pleased with the show.

P W D Hardisty	W H Taylor
L Goldsmith	Louis Lindsay
W S Ladd	R E Bybee
S G Reed	J R Wiggs
J B Wilcox	T B Merry
	J M Wallace

The following were then appointed:

On constitution and by-laws, C. A. Ball, P. J. Martin, G. W. Leihy, R. E. Bybee and T. B. Merry.

On solicitation for membership, P. J. Martin, J. Eppinger, R. J. Wallace, E. J. Jeffery, J. H. Kellogg.

These committees were requested to meet and report Wednesday evening next at the same place.

THE PROPOSED JOCKEY CLUB.

PORTLAND, May 6, 1881.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As a meeting is to be held at the council chamber this evening for the purpose of organizing a jockey club allow me to occupy a portion of your space for the purpose of showing the advantages likely to accrue from such an organization.

To begin with, it will increase the value of every thoroughbred horse in this state, as it increases the number and value of prizes to be contended for. When I was a boy at Lexington, Ky., the entire weeks' bill of prizes at that place contained about $3,000, and the peerless horse named in honor of that place sold (one-half) at the rate of $30,000 for an entire ownership. Now they give $7,000 at each meeting and a grandson of Lexington (the brother to Luke Blackburn) sells for $7,000 at public auction, though an untried yearling.

Secondly, I will bring to Oregon a number of the wealthiest men of California among them E. J. Baldwin, Theodore Winter, L. J. Rose and perhaps the wealthiest and most liberal of all California breeders, ex-Governor Stanford. Not one of these men can come here with three horses and get away with a less expenditure than forty dollars per day. These gentlemen have so many personal friends and such an extensive following that our city will receive an unprecedented influx of wealthy tourists, who will be apt to visit all the principal towns in the state and perhaps make some investments in Oregon property.

Thirdly—it will result in the detention here for breeding purposes of nearly every horse that comes from California, thus adding to the taxable property and material wealth of this state.

Fourthly—it will lead to an increased desire for horseback riding, which is the finest exercise in the world, and the only true way for a gentleman to take his recreation after business hours.

I could go on and enumerate other advantages likely to be reaped from this proposed meeting. But it must be done by organization and not by private management. I can truthfully state that the four-mile races, San Francisco between Thad Stevens, Joe Daniels and True Blue, in 1873, brought out from the east twenty gentlemen of my acquaintance who remained in San Francisco during that entire winter, at an average expense of $800 per month. Now, a San Francisco winter is most delightful weather, but I have yet to learn that it equals an Oregon summer.

There is no reason why every enterprising man of business should not join this organization. In New York the most reliable business men belong to the club at Jerome Park. Among them I may mention August Belmont, the banker, who is richer than all the banks in Oregon consolidated together, and Peter Lorillard, the great tobacco manufacturer, whose tax bill is equal to that of all the factories in Oregon, of every sort. These men join this association because it pays them to do so. It attracts the wealthy men of the south and west to New York and causes them to spend their money in the empire city. Just such men are wanted in the proposed organization at this place, to give character to the sport and to punish summarily any violation of good behavior or of the usages of the turf.

When the celebrated four mile race at Washington, D. C., was made between Tom Galloway and Sprite, the presiding judge was the Father of his Country, George Washington, ex-president of the United States; and the distance was shattered in the hands of a highly reputable young Boston lawyer named John Quincy Adams. Enforce the rules as they should be done, and you will see equally respectable though not as famous men, after the Oregon race act of triad.

THOS. B. MERRY.

SNEAKING FRAUD.

False Labels on Canned Salmon.

[From the San Francisco Merchant.]

The Grocers' Exchange of this city is an institution which has already done a great deal in a quiet way, if it will exert its influence wisely. This matter of false labels is one that it might well consider. We mentioned last week the tearing off the honest label on cans of Puget Sound salmon and replacing them with false labels of an unknown brand of Columbia river salmon. Also of the putting up of Sacramento river salmon as Columbia river. These practices are a confession that any Columbia river salmon, though the packer may have no reputation and be actually unknown on the river, is better than Puget Sound or Sacramento river fish. If we were packing either of the latter we would not so readily admit this, but on the contrary would affirm that either fish, carefully selected, perfectly fresh and packed with the greatest skill, were superior to any except the choicest brands of Columbia river. We do not know that the packer who uses a false label and sells it to dealers for what it is, is worse, or even so bad, as the dealer who sells it again to people not so well informed, for what they think it is but what the seller knows it is not. One only wrongs the general body of Columbia river packers, the other wrongs his own confiding customers and the general public. The man, however, who, being supposed by his customers to deal exclusively in Columbia river fish, buys off lots of Puget Sound and labels them "Columbia River," is the worst of them all. What would be thought in the trade of an importer who purchased the cheapest champagne in the market and relabelled it "Roederer." He would be called "a scoundrel," and if he sought redress by a suit for slander, proving the truth of the charge would clear the defendant. These and similar practices have nothing in common with honest trading, and cannot but result in injury to our commerce. If it were generally believed that many of our grocery firms were selling salmon with false labels, buyers would pass by our jobbers and go direct to the packers or their agents for their supplies. Therefore, we say, that for the protection of our own trade, the members of the Grocers' Exchange should investigate this matter, and if they find these things are being done as we allege, they should pass a resolution that no member buy or sell any canned salmon bearing a label which was wholly or in part false. If they passed such a resolution, adhered strictly to it, in spirit and letter, and enforced it by suitable penalties, they could not but be benefited. We are reaching out now for trade with the new states and territories, and if by our own acts we cast a suspicion on our salmon business, it is just possible that some of these merchants who are now for the first time becoming our customers will prefer to buy of honest eastern houses like Thurber & Co. of New York, who are known to make their contracts annually and direct with the best packers on the Columbia river.

THE FAMOUS OPERA SINGERS.

Annie Louise Cary and Clara Louise Kellogg are beyond question the most famous opera singers of modern times. In fact they have been acknowledged to be the leaders of their profession, as well as ladies of large experience and particularly good taste. They have probably traveled more extensively than any ladies on the stage, and, as a consequence, have had excellent opportunities of judging of the merits of different countries and their productions. It is certainly a very great credit to California and the balmy semi-tropical climate of the Pacific, to have had them pronounce Slavey's Yosemite Cologne by far the best they have ever used in any country. American Periodicals in Europe.

[From the London Bookseller.]

The attempt to naturalize another American magazine in England has been crowned with success. Harper's Magazine has already found a circle of readers sufficiently large to justify the experiment of its introduction. It is a wonderfully cheap shilling's worth, and except for the fact that the English edit [illegible] but a small fraction of the total, it could not be produced, except at a loss. Its literary standard is as high as the best of our magazines, and the quantity of its matter and the number of its illustrations all on a much greater. The Cornhill for April contains 128 pages and two illustrations; Harper's contains 160 larger pages and seventy illustrations. We take The Cornhill as the most popular magazine, and by comparison with Harper or Scribner, the balance is decidedly in favor of the Americans. We have more draughtsmen and engravers than they have, they beat us in printing, so we will say nothing about that, but we pay less wages to our printers than they do, and pay less for our paper, yet, in spite of all our apparent advantages, they can find a market in England for their magazines. We plead guilty to a degree of chauvinism in contemplating this fact. The dense hedge of prejudice may for a time serve as a barrier to keep American magazines from seriously interfering with our own, but that defence will not last forever. From magazines to books the step is a natural one, and with their own base of operations secured by prohibitive duties and an international copyright treaty, and with the entire market of the English-speaking world open to them, what is to prevent the Harpers from competing with the Longmans for the copyright of the works of future Macaulays?

Crossing the Continent.

From the New York Evening Post.

How many of the 60,000 people who will cross the Atlantic this summer for a vacation in Europe have ever crossed our own continent? Some one who is able to do it should set the fashion of seeing beyond the Rocky Mountains for pleasure. It ought to be considered unfashionable, as well as unpatriotic, for those who can afford a pleasure trip abroad, without having visited the natural wonders of our own country. A party of 120 excursionists left Boston [illegible] to make a trip to the Pacific coast, and their enterprise points the way to make crossing the continent a less formidable undertaking to tourists than it has formerly been. Parties could be formed, as large as that from Boston, that large enough to fill one or two palace cars, and these cars should be chartered to take the company wherever they wish to go. In this way the discomforts of travel would be reduced to a minimum, and the long stretches of plains and deserts could be passed over in the daytime, leaving their trains at [illegible] the whole trip [illegible] and at the end of [illegible] they travel [illegible] twenty to fifty [illegible] across the continent [illegible]

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 9, 1881.

A Real Romance.

On a hot July day in the summer of 1874, a boy of perhaps fifteen or sixteen years, weary and footsore, was making his way along the dusty highway that passes the farm of ex-Representative David E. Croan, four miles north of this city. Espying hands at work in a harvest field near by, he timidly approached them, and asked to work for something to eat. Mr. Croan's son, William, took him to the house, where his mother gave him a bountiful dinner. Mr. Croan then set him to work, and, finding him willing and industrious, employed him to work. The boy could give but little account of himself. The first he remembered of himself was traveling from place to place with his parents, as he supposed them to be, called Gypsies. After traveling about for five or six years, the family finally settled down near Newcastle, Henry county, this State. There, after enduring innumerable hardships and cruelties, he determined to run away from his wretched surroundings. One evening, after receiving a terrible beating from his father, he grew desperate, and after dark stole away, going north and sleeping the latter part of the night near the mounds. The next day he made his way to Mr. Croan's and here found a comfortable home for several months. Since that time he has worked for several months in the neighborhood, always being economical and saving in his habits, and laying by quite a sum of money. A few weeks since he determined to go back to Newcastle and visit the home of his former miseries, in order to see his sister to whom he was warmly attached. From his sister, who was much older than himself, he heard a wonderful story. She told him his name was not Hiram Britney, as he supposed, but Hiram Twiford; that the Britneys had stolen him when he was but six or seven years of age from his mother, a widow by the name of Twiford, living near Angola, in Steuben county, this State. His mother made every effort to find him. The country was scoured; the river was dredged; advertisements were inserted in the newspapers of the day, but all to no avail, and the mother finally gave up the search as hopeless, and settling down to endure as best she could the horrible agony and doubt surrounding her child's disappearance. From that time on up to three weeks since, a period of sixteen years, no tidings had been received of the lost child. Young Britney, or Twiford, as we shall hereafter call him, on hearing this strange story from his supposed sister, determined to go to Steuben county at once and fathom the mystery. Arriving there, he inquired for a family by the name of Twiford. He was directed to their residence. Knocking at the door, he was admitted and invited to take a seat. This he did, asking numerous questions regarding the surrounding country, the crops, etc., the lady eying him closely all the while. Finally he asked:

"Did you lose a boy some few years since?"

"Yes," replied the lady, and tears came unbidden to her eyes, "and I would give anything in the world I possess to find him." Another look at the stranger, and with a mother's quick instinct she threw her arms about him, folded him close in her loving arms, saying, "My child, my child! My long lost child, I have found you at last."

When the lady had recovered her self-possession sufficiently, the boy's story was told, and his identity established beyond a doubt, one of the strongest proofs being a scar on his face. This news rapidly spread to the neighborhood, and hundreds of persons flocked to see him, and for some time he was the lion of the neighborhood.

Mr. Twiford came back to this county a few days ago, settled up his business and returned to Steuben county, hereafter to live with his real mother and sister, from whom he was so long and cruelly separated, and to take charge of his mother's large farm, on which she resides. This is, indeed, a romance in real life, and we can truly say, "The web of life is strangely woven."—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

Blood Money Returned After Many Years.

A remarkable illustration of the results of Mr. Moody's preaching is furnished here in the restitution of a sum of money, which formed part of the spoils of a murder committed over eight years ago. The murder was the most noted one in the history of Baltimore—that of an old decrepit woman, Mrs. Mary A. Lamptry—and was attended with great brutality. The old lady was murdered in her bed January 2, 1873. Her murderers, Joshua Nicholson and Thomas B. Whalen, alias Hullahan, were captured after a long search and both were hanged for the crime. Their spoil consisted of $15,000, only a small part of which was ever recovered. Three hundred dollars in silver was thrown into Jones Falls by the murderers in their flight, $150 was found in a cellar on Bond street, but what became of the rest has been a mystery up to this time.

It now turns out that, immediately after the crime, Whalen, or Hallahan, took a trip north, and left his share of the plunder—about $500—with his brother, M. P. Whalen, without telling him where it came. The brother knew nothing of the crime until after the execution. He received a letter written by the Rev. J. P. Wilson, at the murderer's request, giving Whalen's confession. The brother retained the money for nearly eight years, but has now come to Baltimore to restore it, with accrued interest, to Mr. Lamptry, the husband of the murdered woman. He states that having been brought under Mr. Moody's preaching, and having heard his strong sermons on restitution, his conscience troubled him and he resolved to restore the money. He reached Baltimore yesterday from New York, and learning that the Rev. Mr. Wilson was now stationed in Calvert county, has gone there in order that restitution may be made through the medium of the clergyman who was the murderer's confessor.—[Baltimore Gazette.

How Long May a Man Live.

It was Prof. Hufeland's opinion that the limit of possible human life may be set at 200 years. This is on the general principle that the life of a creature is eight times the years of its period of growth. That which is quickly formed quickly perishes, and the earlier complete development is reached the sooner bodily decay ensues. More women reach old age than men, and more men attain remarkable longevity than women. Some animals grow to be very old.

Horned animals live shorter lives than those without horns, fierce longer than timid, and amphibious longer than those which inhabit the air. The voracious pike exists, it is said, to the age of 140 years; the turtle is good for 100 years or more; and among birds the golden eagle is known to have lived 200 years; while the sly and solemn crow reaches the age of a century.

Passing up in the scale of life to man, and skipping to patriarchs, we find many instances of recorded longevity among the classic Greeks and Romans.

Pliny notes that in the reign of the Emperor Vespasian, in the year 76, there were 124 men living in the limited area between the Apennines and the Po of 100 years and upwards, three of whom were 140 and four 135. Cicero's wife lived to the age of 103, and the Roman actress, Luceja played in public as late as her 112th year.

Coming down to more recent times the most notable authentic instance of great age, is that of Henry Jenks, Yorkshire, England, who died in 1670, 169 years old. He was a fisherman and at the age of 100 years easily swam across rapid rivers.

Another historic case is that of Thomas Parr, of Shropshire, a day laborer, who lived to the age of 152 years. When more than 120 he married his second wife, and till 130 he could swing the scythe and wield the flail with the best of his fellow laborers.

In his 152d year Parr went up to London to exhibit himself to the King. It proved an unlucky visit, for violating the abstemious habit of a century and a half the old man feasted so freely on the royal victuals that he soon died merely of plethora. On examination his internal organs proved to be in an excellent condition and there was no reason why he should not have lived much longer save for this unfortunate test of royal hospitality.

Professor Hufeland's roll of centennarians includes many more remarkable cases, among them that of Mittlestedt, a Prussian soldier, who served 67 years under both Fredericks, fighting many battles and enduring much hard campaigning, and who after all this married successfully three wives, the last when he was 110, only two years before his death.

A mother, whose daughter had made her debut at a large ball the night before, meeting a gentleman who, although a little aged, was considered one of the arbiters of a debutante's fate, said, "What did you think of my daughter at the ball last night?" "Excuse me, madam," he replied; "but I am not a good judge of painting." "Yes," replied the lady, "but you never saw an angel that was not painted."

REMARKS ON BUTTER.

Observations on the Making, Packing and Manufacturing of Butter in Oregon.

The Northwestern Farmer and Dairyman, a monthly paper published in this city, has the following good article, which we commend to the attention of everybody in Oregon and Washington:

New York Times quotation March 22, 1881:
Western creamery, choice, 34@35c.
State dairy, half firkins, choice, 28@31c.

A few years ago the order of prices was reversed with the rate for western at 22@25c to 32@35c for state dairy. The quotations are for commercial butter, only such as passes through the commission houses. Nearby dairymen who "contract" with fancy grocers and private families, receive nearly double these quotations.

It was thought ten years ago that the grasses of the west would not make good butter as no strictly good butter came to the New York market from the west. Western butter then took a position in the rear of all New York, New England and Canadian makes. Now it takes the lead and is quoted above all others. Why? Simply on account of care in making and packing for shipment.

We used to see common western butter come to New York in dry goods boxes and whisky barrels, while the best came in rolls in brine and packed in all sorts and sizes of kegs and tubs. A great deal of the butter was sweet and fresh, and if taken out of its rough, uncouth packages and put into the handsome pails used by central New York dairymen, it would sell for and bring the price for fair state dairies. Jobbers made a business of buying it from the commission houses and repacking for sale under other brands. The western dairyman thus suffered a loss of from five to ten cents a pound on the real selling value of his butter.

They have profited by experience, however, and now put their butter (at the dairy) in neat and uniform packages, thus making it as attractive as any of its competitors to the eye of a buyer, and securing thereby an examination of its quality. The result is that western states butter actually leads the market where a few years ago it was at the foot of the list. Some of the difference is of course in its better quality from more intelligent handling, but none of it in the feed or climate of the country.

In this (Portland) market we see tons of California butter, some fair to good, and some old and damaged, but all put up in neat and uniform shapes. At the same time we see Oregon butter standing around in all shapes and sizes of boxes, tubs and barrels, slow to sell, while the interior California (the refuse of San Francisco markets shipped here to be "worked off") goes into our retail stores and forward to the interior in large quantities. Oregon butter is the sweetest, freshest and best when it arrives here, but its ugly packages, or careless packing makes it unattractive to the buyer. The best packages in which the best butter comes, must be emptied and returned to the dairy, and of course such butter is shut out from the interior trade. Wholesale merchants cannot afford to repack it when there is other butter in the market ready to fill orders with. Many of the retail grocers have regular "I-pay-you-what-I-please contracts" with nearby dairymen. Under this state of things all outside makes of butter is at the mercy of a few discriminating buyers, and the speculators who buy it for less than it is worth, repack it and sell it for "California."

The quality of Oregon and Washington butter when it leaves the dairy is far better on the average than of that imported from California, but much of it spoils in transit or in the hands of the dealer. There are two principle causes for this. The first may be found in the practice of using the same shipping boxes year after year, and the second arises from the neglect of the buyers to judge of it by its quality rather than by its looks. In the first place an old butter box becomes "tainted" and imparts its taint to the new butter within a day. New butter in old boxes is worse than the new wine of the parable in old casks. In the second place, while the carelessly packed and old packages of butter are waiting in the commission houses and retail stores for buyers the butter absorbs a portion of all the variety of odors of bacon, codfish, chicken coops, rotten eggs, decaying vegetables, etc., by which it is necessarily more or less surrounded and, as a matter of course, spoils.

To remedy these evils and give Oregon butter a chance for competition with that from California, our butter makers should unite in an association of their own, consult with each other as to the best sort of uniform packages to use, the best methods of manufacture and shipment, etc. Another requisite is one or more commission houses in this city devoted exclusively to the sale of dairy products. This last will follow naturally after the first.

LITERARY NOTES.

Edward Everett Hale and the editor of Harper's had a playful discussion about the possibility of writing a story in 700 words. To decide the matter, the former wrote the Shortest Love Story on Record, which appears in the May Harper. That explains what has puzzled many readers—why such an article should have been written or printed at all.

F. Uppold has issued the first volume of his great work on the church history of the present century. It includes the religious history of the United States, and the introduction reviews at some length the religious situation in the eighteenth century.

The late William Morley Punshon laboriously thought out and committed to memory every passage of his sermons. He sometimes used very small notes, but they contained all the matter which he intended to utter. He was a man of great practical sagacity and successful in affairs.

It is reported in London that Mark Twain has received from his English publishers 25,000 for his share in the profits of "A Tramp Abroad." It is claimed that this is an instance of the unjust discrimination made by the laws of the two countries against the English and in favor of the American author.

The collection of Keats' manuscripts belonging to the late Mr. Severn, has been purchased by H. Sothern & Co., London. It includes the original manuscripts of "The Eve of St. Agnes," with corrections and alterations, and of "Otho the Great," with suppressions and alterations; some interesting letters, unpublished, addressed to Mr. Severn; Shakespeare's works in seven volumes, with marginal notes and verses underlined by Keats; the first edition of Keats' poems, 1817, given by him to Mr. Severn with an inscription, and other relics of the poet.

The indefatigable Mrs. Oliphant is said to have found time amid her various literary labors to write "A Literary History of the Nineteenth Century." It will be in three volumes and is to be published by Macmillan & Co. It is said to be interesting, and possibly prophetic, since a very promising fifth of the century remains to be heard from.

A writer in the Athenæum tries earnestly and with good effect to prove that Oliver Goldsmith wrote the famous nursery story "Goody Two Shoes." It was published by John Newbury in 1765, and it is certain that Goldsmith was actively employed in the service of that publisher during 1763-'64. The style of the story and of several others of unknown authorship and similar purpose bears a strong resemblance to Goldsmith's acknowledged writings.

SATURDAY EVENING, May 7.

The local market is unchanged. $1 28 per cental is a fair quotation, with comparatively no business.

The steamship Columbus cleared today. Following is a statement of her cargo: 274 [illegible], [illegible] sacks flour, 126 sacks potatoes, 768 sacks oats, 71 sacks wool. At Astoria she will take on board 150 tons of salmon and about 1,000 tons of wheat.

The British bark Athelstan, Bayley, master cleared at the custom house today with a full cargo of flour for Liverpool, shipped by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. from the following mills: [illegible], [illegible] bbls.; Magnolia, 3030 bbls.; Oregon City, [illegible] bbls.; total, [illegible] bbls., valued at $55,[illegible].

There was but one entry at the custom house today, the British bark Mary Blundell, 867 tons, of Liverpool, Hore, master, from Iquique, Chili, in ballast.

THE EASTERN FREIGHT SITUATION.

NEW YORK, May 7.—There is no change to note in the freight market, which continues rather quiet, owing partly to slow deliveries of grain engaged for ships, as well as lateness of the season for movement of any larger quantities. The freight outlook is not very promising. Rates remain unchanged so far as quotations, but lower figures have been accepted for certain lots of freight. Tonnage, although not plenty, is not scarce. Agents, however, are not anxious, as they have sufficient tonnage to last for the next 60 days.

Isthmus freights are extremely dull and there are no goods offering for California.

Freights at Boston are looking better. The Brown Bros. is in berth. Railroad freight at Boston has been very active on shipments for the east week, including 140 pkgs. fish, 300 cases corn, 200 boxes herring, 113 cases yeast powder, and 275 kegs horse-shoes.

At Philadelphia there has not been much doing, and the Samaria is getting on but slowly. It is stated that there will soon be several important changes in railroads connected with the freight movement to the Pacific coast. It is said that the present pooling system will be broken up, and that all competing lines will be in the market to gather all the freight they can. This is said to be in connection with the fact that the managers of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road have decided to enter the market, and will in a few days issue a through tariff, and will also make rates from Kansas City to all points in Arizona. This would appear that they have harmonized their differences with the Southern Pacific road, and that they will hereafter compete for the California trade. It is also stated that the Central and Southern Pacific roads will appoint a general freight agent in this city in place of the present agent now acting for the Central and Union Pacific roads. There is a great deal of interest attached to these rumors, and confirmation is anxiously awaited.

Gold and Stock Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.

Wheat—The market is more active; some buyers bid better, among sales were the following: 300 tons choice Oregon, valley, $1 47; shipside, 30 tons fair to good Walla Walla, $1 30 on wharf; 450 tons fair shipping, $1 32½; if buyer is suited in every way he will pay as high as $1 41 for choice shipping.

Oats—Feed, the market is steady and quiet, choice Washington sold today at $1 42½; good Oregon, $1 45.

Barley—The market is quiet but firm.

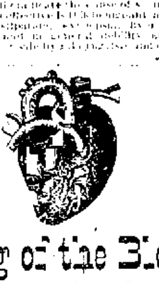
WHY SUFFER NEEDLESSLY

[illegible]



King of the Blood.

Is not a "cure all," it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

TROPIC
LAXATIVE
Prepared from tropical fruits and plants.

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable to the taste that patrons often disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essential to observe the directions closely till one becomes accustomed to its use — when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and nauseous medicines [illegible] cathartic action, [illegible]

Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

Packed in bronzed tin boxes only.

Price, 25 cents.
Large boxes, 60 cents.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks, the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue, breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard, urine turbid, respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.
